Gib McEachern (L) and Norm Crerar accept the Chamber of Commerce trophy from Bob Cowan.

Flin Flon Team Wins Annual White Water Canoe Race

Alberta's fourth annual Whitewater Canoe Race ended in Edmonton Sunday with the weatherman the only surprise finisher.

Flin Flon paddlers Norm Crerar and Gib McEachern won the annual endurance race -- in 13 hours, 42 minutes and 34 seconds. What was surprising was the sun coming out to greet the arrival of the paddlers in Edmonton.

All the way from Rocky Mountain House, where the 176 mile ordeal began Friday, the two-man teams drove their canoes through bitter winds and rain.

The foul weather, combined with extreme low water in the North Saskatchewan River, prompted officials to chop about 40 miles from Saturday's leg of the event by starting from Genesee instead of returning to the river at Drayton Valley.

Three teams of the original 11 starters dropped out during the first day, but the remaining eight continued despite the bad weather to cross the Groat Bridge finish line Sunday before a crowd of thousands.

During the overnight stop in Drayton Valley the paddlers were feted at a supper in the Elks Hall sponsored by the Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of the Chamber trophy to the McEachern-Crerar team for winning the Rocky-Drayton lap with a time of 8 hours, 17 minutes and 6 seconds. Second place team here was the Peter Klewchuck-Leigh Noton entry followed by Bob and Ken Hardy of Edmonton

The second place finishers had a time of 8 hours, 23 minutes and 16 seconds and the Hardy brothers 8 hours, 30 minutes and 4 seconds.

The presentation was made by Chamber secretary Bob Cowan who also acted as MC for the evening. Mayor Bob Findlay extended a welcome to the paddlers on behalf of the town.

Others who spoke briefly during the evening were Eddie Krish, a representative of Labatt's Brewery, sponsors of the race; Bob Hardy, President of the Alberta Paddler's Association; Dale Hodge, Vice President of the A.P.A.; and Fred Raven for the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The race, except for the initial swamping incidents and the foul weather which plagued paddlers and spectators, was relatively smooth.

The McEachern-Crerar team took an early lead and held it despite presure from Flin Flon's Peter Klewchuck and Leigh Noton team, and the Bob and Ken Hardy team of Edmonton, which finished second in Edmonton with a time of 13:58:19.

The Klewchuck-Noton crew which held second place when the canoes slopped into Drayton Valley on Friday night, dropped to third by the finish with a time of 13:59:13.

Over-all, the race might be described as the toughest in the four-year history of the event. It also may be the last of its type to bear the title.

Officials of the Alberta Paddlers' Association said at the Drayton Valley supper that flagging interest, which cut entries from nearly 100 the first year to only 11 this time, shows a need to change the race to allow more new paddlers and increase interest.

One suggestion involves running sections about 30 miles long into Rocky Mountain House, Drayton Valley and Devon while maintaining the Devon-Edmonton link.

The result, in effect four short races for an over-all time time and trophy ending, might increase the hopes of potential entrants and increase the interest in the race itself.

Paddlers' association spokesmen say more amateur races are certain for next year and the Klondike event is guaranteed to grow into a thriving part of Klondike Days activities.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

EARLY CLOSING BYLAW REVISED

The Early Closing Bylaw was the subject of considerable discussion at the regular meeting of Town Council held on Thursday, July 18th.

As a result of the lengthy discussion a new bylaw, No. 404, to replace Bylaws 89, 232 and 341, was given first and second readings and referred back to the committee of the whole.

The new bylaw is essentially the same as the earlier legislation with the execption of the area governing business places that may remain open after normal business hours.

Bylaw 404 states that such an establishment may not have more than 600 square feet of sales area and not more than 400 square feet for the purpose of storage.

Type and class of merchandise handled is limited to a minimum of one-third and maximum of one-half of the sales area to be used for the sale of groceries, comprising of foodstuffs and household supplies. The balance of the sales area, according to the new bylaw, must be utilized for the sale of merchandise, other than groceries, "but usual to a convenience store.

The bylaw states that sales area utilized for the sale of groceries must be clearly defined for inspection purposes.

Third reading of the bylaw is expected at the next meeting of council.

Carl Handzuik (R) holds the 19 1/2 pound lake trout he took on a fishing trip to Margaret Lake in Northern Alberta last week. Val Enjeneski holds one of the many 2 1/2 pounders the party caught for comparison.

District Men Find Good Fishing at Northern Lake

Six district men enjoyed a successful fishing trip to Margaret Lake in North Eastern Alberta last week and besides a number of fine lake trout brought back memories of a most enjoyable holiday.

The party, comprised of Val Enjeneski of Tomahawk. Wilf Enjeneski of Wabamun, Stan Enjeneski of Tripoli, Libya, Jerry Jones of Warburg, Carl Handzuik of Tomahawk, and Gerry Paukstat of Warburg, flew into the lake from Manning, Alberta.

They stayed at a fishing lodge on the lake which is near Wood Buffalo Park and 160 air miles from Manning. The lodge supplied accomodation and equipment for the group who stayed at the lake from Wednesday to Sunday last week.

The men enjoyed fine fishing and took a number of lake trout and Northern pike. The largest trout weighed in the neighborhood of twenty pounds.

MARCH FUND $6,133.

A check of the bank account this week reveals that the "Miles for Millions March" held earlier this year raised a total of $6133.88 for charitable purposes.

At the last meeting of the committee set up to organize the march and now considering dispersal it was decided that forty percent of the total should remain in the community for local charitable emergencies. The balance of the fund will be divided equally between OXFAM, Crossroads Africa and the Indian and Eskimo Association.

Members of the committee are Fr. Edward Lynch, Bill Johanneson, Fred Schipper, Bob Doig and Ron Smith.

Rodeo to Be Held Here August 17th

Plans are now underway for a rodeo to be held here on Saturday, August 17th. This year's event follows a successful start with an amateur rodeo last summer.

A parade is again planned to get festivities of the day started and entries for this part of the show are now being sought.

The parade is being organized under Chamber of Commerce sponsorship by Bob Doig. Anyone who would like to enter is asked to contact him at 542-3326 or 542-3232.

Research Program Studies Headwaters Saskatchewan River

A continuous research program that will establish a network of observation wells in selected areas of the Saskatchewan River headwaters region was given final approval by Alberta Agriculture Minister H.E. Strom and Federal Forestry and Rural Development Minister Maurice Sauve. The area included in this project (roughly 15,000 square miles) is the headwaters region of the Saskatchewan River from the continental divide to the edge of the foothills.

Results and benefits of this study are of major importance to the orderly and intelligent development of water priorities and uses across the prairie region. Planning of future use of the Saskatchewan River water resources must be based on the best possible estimates of available water. These measurements will include an evaluation of the groundwater resources as well as surface water in the area. It will also show: a. where the water is coming from; b. where the water is going; and c. in what quantity. This will indicate the amounts of stored groundwater that can be used without depleting our total reserve.

During the three years this project has been in operation a general knowledge has been gained of the surface and bedrock geology of the foothills and mountain belts. However, it has been found advantageous to concentrate investigation on selected smaller areas. Therefore, the three basins selected for drilling groundwater instrumentation will be: a. Marmot Creek basin; b. Streeter basin; c. Deer Creek basin.

The total cost of the project for 1968-69, and 1969-70 will be $36,720 and will be shared equally by the federal and provincial governments. The Groundwater Division of the Research Council of Alberta will continue with the implementation of this program and will be responsible for its operation and maintenance.

THE MUDDY MO

The mighty Missouri River has a well-deserved rep for being something less than gin clear. Some old-timers claim it's the only water in the world that you have to chew before you can drink. Since the days of Lewis and Clark, it's been regarded as "to thick to navigate and too thin to cultivate."

But we heard the clincher the other day, when an old river man told us that he's seen the Missouri River so muddy that "you could stand on the bank and watch 'coon tracks float by!"

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The suggestion of changes in the annual Whitewater Canoe Race made by Alberta Paddlers' Association President Bob Hardy at a dinner here Friday evening should be greeted by those who would like to see the race continue as a summer attraction.

As presently set up the race is losing the interest of paddlers and spectators alike when it should be building to a prime feature bringing in competitors and enthusiasts from across the country and the U.S.A. Nearly 100 teams took part in the first race four years ago and only eleven this year -- a fairly good indication of the waning interest.

We believe flagging interest could be revived if spectators could expect to see a little more action at the finish line. Not many people stop to think about the enormous amount of effort put into the grueling 176 mile course from Rocky Mountain House to Edmonton and are disappointed to see canoes arriving singly without the tension of a rush to the finish line.

The answer appears to to be some sort of sprints (without eliminating the long distance endurance race) at towns along the way that would get spectators off their hands and cheering.

The Keep Canada Beautiful campaign isn't getting anything like the support it should from the packaging people, says David Judge, editor of Canadian Packaging.

"Everyone who is involved in the packaging business, whether they put products into packages, make the packages, or supply the packaging material, contributes the largest chunk to the nations litter pile," he says.

"It is not enough to argue that the public makes the mess. The packaging industry supplies them with the material to make that mess, and therefore is implicated in the crime of littering and has a moral responsibility to prevent it. It ill becomes the packaging industry to throw stones before it has thrown into the pot the kind of money needed to mount a campaign which will really win the war against litter."

And, adds Judge, people who throw litter are not "Litterpiggies," as one municipality coyly labels them. They are slobs.

Brush Burning Creates Danger To Green Area

During the past twenty years careless farmers and ranchers have started over 750 forest fires in Alberta, according to the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests. The fires have destroyed more than one million acres of forest and other ground cover. Extinguishing these fires has cost over two million dollars. This figure doesn't include the damage to land, property and forest.

If brush and settlement fires are not carefully controlled they can spread to your neighbors' land and also to valuable stands of timber.

FOREST VALUE

In Alberta, it takes from 60 to 150 years to grow a tree depending on the species and the desired end product. In a matter of hours through careless use of fire we lose what nature took decades to grow.

On your own land the value of trees should not be forgotten. Windbreaks prevent soil from drifting, conserve moisture, provide shade for livestock and in the future supply useful products for your farm or ranch. Think twice before you strip your area of valuable trees.

DANGER

Poor planning and careless use of fire can destroy your own and your neighbors' lands and buildings. Uncontrolled fire may destroy valuable forests which are held in trust for future generations to use and enjoy. It is the duty and responsibility of the Alberta Forest Service to protect the forest resources of the province.

REDUCTION OF VISIBILITY

Smoke from settlement fires drifts for many miles with the prevailing winds. It causes poor visibility which prevents the sighting of fires from lookout towers.

IS IT GOOD TO BURN?

1. The burning of debris from land clearing is a practical and cheap method of disposal.
2. The cutting or burning of grass and brush close to your buildings is a good safety precaution if proper care is taken.
3. The burning of fields and meadows for grazing improvements is of doubtful value. The continued use of such a practice will reduce the soil value and result in poor growth.
4. The burning of standing brush and trees for the purpose of clearing land is dangerous and harmful. It is not good practice and not approved by the forest service. To complete this type of burn the danger must be high and resulting fire is so hot that it seriously damages the soil. Even more important is the fact that such fires are difficult to control and threaten life, property and forest.

WHEN TO BURN

In most wooded areas of the province from April 1st to October 31st, the law demands that a fire permit be obtained before burning takes place. If you are in doubt as to the requirements of obtaining a permit for your own particular land, contact the County, Municipality or the Forest Ranger in your area. A permit is not necessary for camp fires.

Brush piles, whenever possible, should be burned during the fall and winter period. When burning is completed make sure all fires are "dead out" since sparks can smoulder and start new fires in the spring.

Before clearing land make sure you understand the fire regulations. Consult the proper authorities. Their advice may save you time and money.

PRECAUTIONS AND BURNING PROCEDURES

(a) A fire guard with a minimum width of 30 feet clear of all burnable debris must completely surround the area to be burned.

(b) Brush piles or windrows will not exceed 200 feet in length and will be separated from other windrows by at least ten feet.

(c) Brush piles or windrows should be piled across the prevailing wind.

(d) When constructing windrows or piles compare them as much as possible and keep them free of dirt. The piles will then burn easily and rapidly with a lowering of costs.

(e) Check with your local authority a few days before you wish to burn and obtain your fire permit.

(f) In some communities lists are posted for the farmer to fill in with his name and land location plus the date he wishes to burn. In these areas a Forest Ranger will call on the farmer and issue a fire permit making sure the necessary safety measures have been taken.

MEET "BERTIE BEAVER"

"Bertie Beaver" is the lovable little character chosen to symbolize the Alberta Forest Service.

"Bertie" was born on a drawing board in the Hollywood Studios of Walt Disney in 1958. Alberta forestry officials were happy to receive Bertie from Walt Disney and have tried to maintain the appealing design of the original drawing in all posters, booklets and other advertising.

Bertie's message "Be Careful With Fire in the Forests" must be heeded if our green landscapes are to be kept forever.

3,500 Bulls Sold At Alberta Sales

Alberta's annual spring bull sales grossed $1,935,000 this year compared with $1,960,000 in 1967.

J. L. Kerns, livestock specialist with the provincial Animal Industry Division, reports that the 2,600 Hereford bulls brought $1,470,000 for an average price of $566.00. The 720 Angus bulls averaged $500.00 a head for a gross return of $360,000, while the 211 Shorthorns averaged $504 for a gross return of $106,000. Last year's average prices were Herefords $585.00, Angus $525.00 and Shorthorns $507.00.

The total number of bulls sold at this year's 33 consignment sales was 3,500 compared with 3,440 in 1967.

Mr. Kerns says the decrease in average prices this spring was due to generally lower agricultural prices and to the feed shortage in central and northern Alberta.

Over 30 per cent of the bulls sold at the sales were purchased under the Alberta Department of Agriculture's Cattle Improvement Policy. This policy pays 10 per cent of the purchase price of an animal, up to a maximum of $50.00, to eligible commercial beef producers. The average bonus to the 1,150 purchasers was $43.00 per bull. Last year, 1,190 applicants received an average bonus of $44.50 per head.

Alberta's consignment sales are sponsored and organized by breed associations, agricultural societies and fair board committees. Starting in February and finishing in June, they are held throughout the province from Medicine Hat in the south-east to Fairview in the north. Three or four consignment sales are also held each fall.

In filling out his application for a factory job, the man puzzled for a time over this question, Person to notify in case of accident? Finally he wrote: "Anybody in sight."

Hail Studies Project Seeks Continued Reports

Hail activity in central Alberta is running well below normal for July, and so far only 70 hail reports have been mailed in by farmers. This is the smallest number for the first half of July since 1961, which was the least active year since the Hail Studies Project began.

Two groups from the United States have now joined the project for a period of three weeks. Also a T-33 jet aircraft from the National Aeronautical Establishment in Ottawa is working with the project this week. The aircraft is equipped with instruments for measuring winds and turbulence very accurately. The plan is to have this aircraft fly around the storms at various altitudes from 10,000 to 40,000 feet to obtain the wind flow in the immediate vicinity of the storms. These data will be a very useful additional input to the modelling of the airflow into, through, and around hailstorms.

The Alberta Hail Studies project has urgent need of samples of all sizes of hail for laboratory analysis, and requests that during the next month anyone who gets any substantial amount of hail save a sample. Clean stones should be picked up off the ground, put in a plastic container, preferably a one gallon size--but half a gallon will do-- and then stored in the freezer. Make a careful note of the date and time of the hailfall. Inform Alberta Hail Studies that you have a sample, and arrangements will then be made to send a truck out to collect it.

One final point--during the postal strike, it is requested that the hail report cards continue to be filled out immediately after a storm. These can be then mailed at a later date. The information is still of value, even if delayed, and is an essential part of the very valuable climatology of hail now being accumulated for Alberta.

Epic Journey of Simon Fraser

Simon Fraser descending the Fraser River in 1808. After his Highland Scot father died while serving the British Army in the American Revolutionary War, young Vermont-born Fraser joined the North-West Company and served as a clerk in various Canadian outposts. He became a partner in 1801. He set up trading posts in the Peace River district, explored west of the Rockies and established Fort St. James, Fort Fraser and Fort George.

On May 28, 1808, Fraser launched an expedition from Fort George immediately south of Prince George to explore the length of what he thought was the Columbia River. He led two lieutenants, 19 voyageurs and two Indian guides in four canoes. The party returned August 6 after completing a very difficult journey of discovery down the Fraser River to the area of New Westminister, where hostile costal Indians turned them back and they re-traced their route up the river. Fraser reported in his journal "my great disappointment in not seeing the main ocean, having gone as near it as to be almost within view. We besides wished very much to observe the longitude. The latitude is 49 degrees nearly, while that of the entrance of the Columbia is 46 degrees 20'. This river is therefore not the Columbia."

Fraser's expedition was assisted by friendly Indians through the canyon sections of the river, where nearly every mile brought danger and difficulty: whirlpools, rapids, rocks, and carrying-places so rough that a new pair of moccasins was torn to shreds in one day of portaging.

On June 9 Fraser reports finding the worst rapids they had yet seen: "Here the channel contracts to about forty yards, and is enclosed by two precipices of immense height which, bending towards each other make it narrower above than below. The water which rolls down this extraordinary passage is tumultuous waves and with great velocity had a frightful appearance. However, it being absolutely impossible to carry the canoes by land, all hands without hesitation embarked as it were 'a corps Perdu' upon the mercy of this awful tide. Once engaged, the die was cast, our great difficulty consisted in keeping the canoes within the medium of 'fil d'eau', that is, clear of the precipice on one side and from the gulfs formed by the waves on the other. Thus skimming along as fast as lightning, the crews, cool and determined, followed each other in awful silence, and when we arrived at the end, we stood gazing at each other in silent congratulation at our narrow escape from total destruction."

In some stretches, the canoes had to be left behind, only to be replaced further downstream by bargaining with the local Indians. During such interludes, the men had to carry packs weighing 80 pounds each, toiling over the roughest country they had ever seen. Said Fraser: "It is so wild that I cannot find words to describe our situation at times. We had to pass where no human being should venture; yet in those places there is a regular footpath impressed, or rather indented upon the very rocks by frequent travelling. Besides this, steps which are formed like a ladder or the shrouds of a ship, by poles hanging to one another and crossed at certain distances with twigs, the whole suspended from the top to the foot of immense precipices and fastened at both extremities to stones and trees, furnish a safe and convenient passage to the Natives; but we, who had not had the advantage of their education and experience, were often in imminent danger when obliged to follow their example."

Over Ten Million in Alberta Scholarships

A total of 16,193 students received $10,070,754 in scholarships, grants, bursaries, prizes and loans from the Students Assistance Board, Alberta Department of Education, during the 1967-68 fiscal year ending March 31. This compares with $7,644,648 in financial assistance given to 14,000 students between April 1, 1966 and March 31, 1967.

Of the total expenditure for the 1967-68 fiscal period $2,527,046 was given students in the form of Alberta government awards. Another $1,126-303 was allotted to students through Province of Alberta loans.

In addition, $6,417,405, was awarded to students under the Canada Student Loans which is administered by the Alberta Department of Education's Students Assistance Board.

Provincial money awarded to students comes from the Queen Elizabeth Education Scholarship Fund, established in 1959 to commemorate the Queen's visit to Alberta.

The fund provides Province of Alberta Scholarships of $100 to first year university and undergraduate students. These scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement to students having a matriculation average or previous average of 80 or better. First year university students and undergraduates with an average of 50 or better may also apply for Province of Alberta grants up to $400. Loan assistance up to $1,500 for single students and $2000 for married students is also provided.

Province of Alberta scholarships, grants and loans may be awarded to students attending universities, junior colleges or institutes of technology in Alberta. A recent change in the regulations under the Students Assistance Act provides grant and loan assistance to undergraduate and graduate students attending approved universities outside of Alberta. Where financial need has been determined, loans may be approved by the Students Assistance Board either separately or in conjunction with grants.

A new pamphlet listing the various types of financial assistance available to students under the Queen Elizabeth Education Scholarship Fund is now available for distribution through the Students Assistance Board. This pamphlet describes all aspects of the Alberta students assistance program, and incorporates recent changes in regulations. Copies of the pamphlet may be obtained from the Students Assistance Board, Department of Education, Edmonton, Alberta.

The problem of painting children's rooms, furniture and furnishings with a non-toxic paint has been a problem. Finding a paint that didn't contain mercury or zinc was difficult.

Apparently these are now available. C.I.L. has developed a non-toxic paint in a special colour range suited for children. It's reported to be hard wearing and yet has a soft semi-gloss sheen. The latex base makes it quick-drying with very little odour.

Seven pastel shades have been developed to blend with and complement babies' clothing and furniture. Such names as Polar Bear, Pink Rabbit, Mint Candy and Blue Eyes make you want to get busy and redo the children's rooms.

Often people know which colours they favour but aren't sure how to combine colours to achieve an imaginative and tasteful effect.

Many department stores offer a decorating service and of course our department will be happy to give you any assistance we can.

FROM THE BIG COUNTRY . . . Alberta

Alberta remembers

To be remembered in the name of a mountain must surely be one of the most lasting honours any man can receive. For the heroes of war, particularly, it is especially appropriate, and Alberta's mountains cherish for ever the names of many such great men. To be sure, their deeds may now be forgotten. But the timeless rock remains, and with it, the invitation to re-discover some amazingly courageous men.

The silent peaks have stirring tales to tell. When, nearly seventy years ago, in the thick of the Boer war, a party of Royal Canadian Dragoons found themselves in desperate straits, a young lieutenant saved the day. As the attacking Boers threatened to capture the guns, Lt. Richard Turner dismounted and deployed his men at close quarters with such courage and skill that the enemy was driven off. For his gallantry, he was awarded the Victoria Cross, a decoration soon to be followed by other honours as he rose to become Lt. General Richard E. W. Turner V.C., K.C.-M.G., C.D., D.S.O., World War I Commander of the Canadian Forces in the British Isles. Today, the proud name is borne by the lofty peak of Turner Mountain.

Fryatt Mountain is another example. Here we remember Captain Fryatt, shot by the Germans in July 1916 on a charge of having attempted to ram a submarine.

Mt. Hood bears tribute to that fearless old seadog Rear Admiral Hood, who went down with the Invincible at the Battle of Jutland. Another great sailor survived the Jutland Battle. Rear Admiral Packenham is honoured by Mt. Packenham — a suitable memorial for a famous leader.

Mt. Farquhar remembers Lieutenant Colonel F. D. Farquhar D.S.O., who died in World War I when leading the famous "Princess Pats" Canadian Light Infantry to an immortal reputation for valour.

Mt. Strachan makes timeless the exploits of a bold lieutenant in the Fort Garry Horse. In November 1917, Lt. Henry Strachan earned the Victoria Cross as he led his squadron through the withering fire of enemy machine guns in a fearless assault on a gun battery. In the bloody hand to hand fighting, Strachan killed seven enemy gunners with his sword.

Probably the most famous of all Canadian airmen lives on in the mountain heights. Mount Bishop lauds Col. W. A. Bishop, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., the steel-nerved fighter pilot who once downed three enemy planes in one sortie and who destroyed no less than 72 enemy planes in the course of World War I.

Of course, not all heroes are fortunate enough to be remembered in the permanence of mountain granite. One such was young Jim Robertson, a former locomotive engineer who died with conspicuous gallantry in November 1917. Serving with the 27th Battalion, Canadian Infantry, Private James Peter Robertson was one of a platoon held down by vicious machine gun fire and a field of uncut barbed wire. Somehow, Robertson fought his way forward, reached the machine gun and single-handedly killed four of the crew, before turning the gun on the remainder.

Awarded the Victoria Cross for his exploits, Robertson was honoured by the C.P.R. who named a station in his name. For many years, Robertson was a busy terminal for rail visitors to the Baker Sanatorium on Calgary's western outskirts but with the popularity of the automobile it soon became unfeasible and was discontinued. Perhaps one day, someone will think to place Robertson's name on a mountain. After all, a mountain is something that just can't be closed down.

Neptune Swimmers Win Saturday Meet

The 1968 Drayton Valley Swim Meet held last Saturday afternoon at the local pool was a very successful event in every respect. The event got under way at 1:00 P.M. and ran through till 5:15. A total of some 130 swimmers took part in the meet. Swimmers from five teams competed in the meet: Camrose, Fort Saskatchewan, Devon, Drayton Valley and Edson. The weather, a bit on the inclement side, did not interfere in any way with the progress or the success of the meet.

At last year's meet the local Neptune Swim Club gave fair warning that with more time, more training and more conditioning, they would be a first rate swim team in this regional circuit which they compete. Well last Saturday the Neptune Club came of age and made 1966 and 1967 prognostications regarding their potential come true. The local team swept the tournament with relative ease scoring a total of 212 points with Devon their nearest competitor finishing the day with 156 points. Other scores were Camrose 81 Fort Saskatchewan 79 and Edson 33.

Lome Regnier led the way for the Drayton team with seven first place finishes and one second. Neil Samis came in first on six occasions and made one second place finish. Other outstanding swimmers in the Drayton Valley cause were Jim McKillop, Barbara Henderson, Cheryl Daviduk, Janet Bootsma, Dean Samis and Bruce Hay. The victory was a great team effort with many of the lesser stars and comparative newcomers to the team coming through in great style.

Drayton Valley team's performance over the past year is the result of excellent coaching, long hours of training hard work and an individual desire to excell in the sport of competitive swimming. In the coaching department Sharon Phelan has played a vital part in the success of the team. Bruce Devilbiss who has an excellent background in Inter-collegiate swimming has been instrumental in the instruction, training and conditioning of the Neptune swimmers. Bruce works with the team five days a week for one hour at noon and generally is on hand for the evening workouts also. This man's service has been invaluable in the development of this year's team. Over and above the two forementioned people we have Fred DeGeest who has been the backbone of the Neptune Club over the years, Linda McMorris, Al McKillop, Mike Daviduk, Reg Samis and Kurt Hansen. We must not forget the persons behind the scene who have contributed immeasurably to the success of the club: Wilma Steves, Peggy McKillop, and each and every person who gave freely of their time for the betterment of our swimming team and the success of our swim meet.

Swim meet success despite unfavorable weather.

DRAYTON TEAM WINS TWICE

The "Little Canadian" team playing out of Drayton Valley and coached by Lawrence Duperron and Chuck Schneider came up with two victories last week. On Monday evening the Drayton Valley team edged Entwistle 14-13 and on Thursday evening they took a 16-9 game from Wildwood. Both games were played in Drayton Valley.

In the way of future games, Moon Lake will visit Drayton for a game at the West Valley Recreation Park on Saturday and on Tuesday, July 30, Tomahawk will be the visitors at the Park. Saturday's game gets underway at 2:00 P.M. while Tuesday evening's game will start at 6:00 P.M. sharp.

THREE ACQUIRE SWIM AWARD

Linda Astle of Drayton Valley recently acquired the Red Cross Senior Leaders standing in swimming instruction. Linda was a candidate in the recent Red Cross Instructors and Senior Leaders Course taught by Sharon Phelan and held here in Drayton Valley. All candidates registered in the course were successful in obtaining their qualifications. The two other successful candidates from Drayton Valley were Ken Goble and Jack Palmer. This brings the number of qualified Red Cross Senior Leaders to seven. Four persons; Bruce Hay, Barbara Henderson, Neil Samis and Jill Kerr qualified for leadership honors last spring at a course held in Edmonton.

DRAYTON CLUB THIRD AT DEVON

The Drayton Valley Neptune Swim Team travelled to Devon on Sunday to take part in the annual Devon Swim Meet. The meet was very well attended and the competition was keen throughout. The Neptune Club finished third in this meet behind Devon and Hinton.

Other swim meets coming up in the coming weeks are at Fort Saskatchewan, Camrose and Edson. It is expected that the Neptune team will be competing in all these meets.

Hog Producers Asked to Register for Market Plan

The plan for hog marketing submitted by the Farmers' Union of Alberta has been approved by the Provincial Government. However, this approval is subject to the voluntary registration of 6,000 hog producers who produced a minimum of 600,000 hogs during the period May 1, 1967 to April 30, 1968. Any person who marketed a minimum of one market hog during this period is qualified to register. If the requirement of 6,000 producers representing 600,000 hogs is not met, there will be no vote and the matter of establishing a hog marketing board will be closed.

It is a generally accepted fact that to-days' hog prices are low and do not provide a reasonable margin of profit even for the most efficient.

Advantages of the proposed hog marketing board include the fact that buyers must bid competitively for every hog they want with the price being the sole factor in establishing the buyer. Under the marketing board plan every buyer will have an equal chance to buy every hog, with no deliberate price setting at low levels by the large packing plants in order to weaken the market.

It is in the interest of all hog producers in the area to see that this plan goes ahead and is not shelved because of inadequate support. Any further information can be supplied by Mr. William Dusterhoft at 542-2014, Mr. Harmon Swap 542-2206, or by the president of the local F.U.A. Mr. Ed Hines at 542-2133.

Registration forms were to have been mailed out the 22nd of July, but owing to the postal strikedifferent arrangements have to be made. Forms will now be available from the District Agriculturist who is in attendance at Sekura Auction Market every Wednesday from 1-4 P.M.

"Gasification" To Alberta Rural Areas

Although "gasification" is a new word in agriculture, for some Alberta farmers it is as common as electrification was ten years ago.

Farmers have long been envious of urban dwellers with gas mains running past their doors, but the cost of mains for rural residents has been prohibitive. However, specialized farming and environmental control for livestock, has forced them to search for new fuel sources.

Today, the utility companies are starting to literally "plough" plastic gas mains through the country, in much the same way that power lines went through a few years ago.

Plastic mains can be used up to a distance of 20 feet from the buildings, says R. S. Forrest, regional extension engineer at Red Deer, Alberta. The use of plastic in the farmstead itself means a comparatively cheap distribution system as well as a reasonably economical main. The lines are usually buried three feet deep in the fields, but can be as shallow as two feet in the farmyard.

Mr. Forrest points out that although L.P. gas is just about as convenient as a source of fuel as natural gas, the natural gas is much more economical. A farmer can get approximately 14,000 useful B.T.U.'s per penny from the natural gas compared to 7,000 from L.P. gas 8,000 from oil and 10,000 from coal. Stoker coal could possibly cost less.

A word of caution - Mr. Forrest stresses that all appliances using gas from gas mains must be C.S.A. approved and all installations must be approved and inspected by the Department of Labour.

D. V. Highlights

BY MRS. EDITH DEBY

Bob McFalls, of Hanna arrived in Drayton Valley on Monday to join the Treasury Branch Staff. He will be Wildwood teller.

Mrs. Urchyshyn Sr., a former resident of our district, celebrated her seventy-ninth birthday on Sunday. Among many other accomplishments Mrs. Urchyshyn is a most successful gardener and her vegetables are the envy of her Edmonton neighbours.

Miss B. Freier entertained in in her parent's home recently for Miss Fern Combs whose marriage to Mr. Rudy Hines is an event of early August.

Russell McArthur, of Honeymoon Bay, B.C., is visiting the Ducketts and other relatives for the summer holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McKenzie and family enjoyed a holiday at the west coast this month.

Gordon Tucker has finished five years of University training and he and his wife have accepted teaching positions in Bowden. Gordon is a physical education specialist and since graduation has conducted a hockey school at the university.

Have you ever seen an albino magpie? Neither have I but Otto Guze says there has been one flying about his barnyard this week. Why not call Al Oeming, Otto? Bet he has never seen an albino magpie either, and yours might be captured alive and be allowed to live a long, protected life in the Alberta Game Farm.

BERRYMOOR NEWS

MRS. D. MARTIN
Correspondent.

Mrs. Esther Thompson and her family from the state of Washington, U.S.A. spent a few days in the district visiting old friends and also relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Lund from Bruce, Alberta were visitors at the Ira Haight home. Mrs. Lund is Ira's sister.

Our community had a long delayed dream finally come true this past week. Our phones at last are hooked up. And they certainly have been jingling merrily away ever since. All of us, young and old alike are very similar to a child with a new toy.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin became great grandparents; again this past week. Their grandson, Bob Shaw and his wife had a baby daughter, Ruth Muriel. Congratulations Bob and Dianne.

The Martin families had quite a few visitors this weekend and also a family gathering on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Schmid from Puyallup, Washington were there. Mrs. Schmid is Mrs. Martin's neice.

Frank and Connie McDonald and their son Steven and daughter Lynn from Edmonton were also there. Frank McDonald is Mrs. Martin's nephew.

Also Mrs. Edna McDonald from Williams Lake, B.C. was present. She is Mrs. Martin's sister. Also a friend from Williams Lake, B.C., Mr. Sid Butts, was a visitor at the Martin home. All in all it was quite a gathering.

Health Hints from THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

People moving from one community to another often experience difficulty in finding a family doctor in their new surroundings, especially if they didn't have one in their former home.

The Canadian Medical Association says that those who have a family doctor and are contemplating a move to another community should have no problem. All they need do is ask their doctor to refer them to a family physician in their new community. Ideally, the former doctor will write a letter of introduction and send along a summary of the family records to the new doctor.

People who did not have a family doctor in their former community will be on their own in the new community. As soon as they are settled they should set out to find a doctor. The nearest hospital will provide a list of family doctors on its staff, and this list can be screened by neighbours, fellow workers or others whose judgment you trust.

Once a name is selected, an appointment with the doctor should be arranged at once, when the family is well. If his practice is not overcrowded, he will accept the new family and there will be no problem when illenss strikes. Unfortunately most people delay making these necessary arrangements until there is illness in the family. This often results in a frantic search which at best will result in finding only a doctor, not necessarily the doctor of choice.

The family doctor provides primary and continuing care of a comprehensive nature, using consultants and specialists as required.
